In order to offer you the best possible user experience on our website, we use cookies.

What are cookies?

Cookie is a small textual file that is saved on your device when you visit the website.

Why do we use cookies?

By using cookies, we can offer you a better user experience on the website, for example, cookies store information about previous visits and choices on the website.

By using the website, you agree to our use of cookies:

- collect usage patterns and statistical data;
- remember user preferences and settings;
- provide offers and marketing messages that are more relevant to the user's needs;
- collect information necessary for the development of the website;
- personalize the page and fill out forms;
- facilitate the presentation of page content on social networks;
- to provide content (Facebook, Google, Instagram).

What type of cookies do we use?

Session cookies

Session cookies or temporary cookies are used each time you visit our website and are deleted when you close your web browser. Temporary cookies are used, for example, to save the website's language selection.

Persistent cookies

Persistent cookies remain on the user's device even after closing the website. Persistent cookies have different lifetimes and some of them remain on the user's device for days, months or even years. Persistent cookies are used, for example, to remember user preferences and save username and password so that the user does not have to log in again with each visit.

Third-party cookies

Our page uses third-party cookies, the purpose of which is to provide better content, collect statistics and display advertisements. You can familiarize yourself with the privacy policy and terms of third parties on the cookie manufacturer's page.
